Hi! My name is Sara Wolff.

I have 2 brothers and 1 sister. Jeffery Wolff is married and has 6 kids resides in Kissimmee, Florida, Randy Wolff is married and has 2 kids. My sister Jennifer Wolff Motichka is married and has no children. Randy and Jennifer live in PA near my dad and me.

I love the Houston Texans. I am a fan of J.J. Watt (Justin James Watt) since he got drafted in 2011. I have been a fan of the Houston Texans since 2009.

I like to watch football in August through the wintertime. I like to go to Penn State College football games. I love bowling. I am on a league with Self-Advocates from my local Arc here in Scranton, PA. I love swimming in the summer. I love WWE (World Wrestling Entertainment) every Monday Night (Monday Night RAW) and Thursday Nights (SMACKDOWN).

I am on the NDSS Self-Advocate's Advisory Board as their Co-Chair along with Mitchell Levitz (Co-Chair). I enjoy this because meeting new Self-Advocates and to discuss Advocacy and Self-Advocacy issues regarding people and Self-Advocates that have Down syndrome.

I come to the Buddy Walk® on Washington every year to share my story with my Members of Congress. This year I am asking you to co-sponsor the new ABLE to Work Act (HR 4795 / S 2702). It was just introduced in Congress. The new ABLE to Work Act will allow me to save money from my work, go back to college, and provide transportation.

I am also asking you to join the Congressional Task Force on Down Syndrome. The Task Force is a bicameral, bipartisan Task Force. NDSS works with the Task Force that works to educate Members of Congress and their staff about Down syndrome, and to promote legislative activities and public policies that would enhance the quality of life for those with Down syndrome.
